HOSPITAL UNIT L GETS PALATIAL QUARTERS AFTER MUCH ROUGH TRAVELING

Members Have Nice Soft Beds; Sleep Between Sheets and Eat Real Food.

SEEMS TOO GOOD TO LAST

"This is what is called a 'rest' camp where troops stop off on their way to and from the fighting front," says "Bill" Sherman in his second letter recounting the adventures of Hospital Unit L. "There are some barracks here but the U. S. troops, probably because they are here such a short time, live in tents, sleeping on the floor, 15 to a tent. I can truthfully say that there are no soft spots on it, but we have lots of blankets and are warm and comfortable. "I am writing this in the British Y. M. C. A., which is very cozy and nice. The American 'Y' is under a big tent and it is quite cold and damp here today. I am very anxious to see the sun come out. It will be beautiful then. The camp seems to be on some gentleman's estate, the buildings of which are of that quaint architecture that makes English life so pleasant. I was compelled to pause because I learned that 'tea' was to be served at four instead of five o'clock, as I supposed. 'Tea' consisted of two slices of rye bread, a chunk of cheese and jam, with coffee to wash it down. They are particular about there being no waste of food but with the appetite I have after my enforced fast on the boat, I eat every crumb. Houses so pretty. There are several little lakes with swans swimming about on them and lots of drives and pathways. "Everybody rides a bicycle; there are no pleasure autos at all. The houses are all numbered and named like Pullman cars, big, high-sounding names like Knollsview, Glenview, Vista Formosa, etc. The women carry mail, act as street car conductors and otherwise take the men's places. I don't know where the men work for there aren't any factories or anything else where a man size job could be located. Of course, there may be but I haven't seen any. "A French soldier with a tin helmet that looks like an inverted basin is buying a stamp at the desk. He is at least 40. Many of the English soldiers are elderly men. "In this British Y. M. C. A. kindly-managed women, clad in long blue aprons with blue kerchiefs wrapped about their heads. Gypsy-fashion, serve cocoa, coffee, lemonade and some food, the latter only at night. A cup of cocoa costs but two cents and it's very good. I blew myself for three cups today."

Some days later, after Unit L had progressed through another stage of its journey inland in France, "Bill" recorded his impressions in another letter. "After a long period of traveling, during which we slept in tents on hard floors, marched many miles to so-called 'rest' camps, and rode many miles in cattle cars, we arrived at a place that is a veritable palace, and to top it off we had some real food. After a fare of bully beef and hard tack, ham and eggs and creamed potatoes with real bread and butter, was a treat fit for the gods. And we're living in a hotel with hardwood floors, nice soft beds and every convenience. It seems too good to be true. On the road we passed many historical places, walled towns built on the tops of hills in the days of the Caesars. All these we saw from our cattle car, although we did stop for nearly a day in one place of special interest.

"Following my usual custom I did 'K. P.' the first day, volunteered, in fact. And it was pleasant at that. A fellow didn't mind working after such a feed. Maybe I didn't sleep well last night! And between sheets! Think of that! "The arrival of our nurses was an event of great importance. The soldiers had not seen an American woman for many months and were tickled. I hear we are to lose our quarters and take billets down in the village."

Go to the Laughtrey Drug Co., Connelville, or the Broadway Drug Co., Scottsdale, and the druggist 30 cents, say "I want a jar of San Cura Ointment" and if you aren't satisfied—your money back.

Yes, and more; try San Cura Ointment for old sores that people say will never heal, for fever sores, for itching skin, eczema, tetter, salt rheum, chapped hands, face or lips, for ulcers, carbuncles, boils, sore nipples and broken breasts.

It draws out poison; that's the secret of the wonderful success of San Cura Ointment; that's why it cures so quickly; heals sores, burns, cuts and bruises. It's best to use San Cura Soap at all times; it is a great aid in banishing pimples, blackheads and the germs of disease. 30 cents. Thompson Medical Co., Titusville, Pa. Adv.

DON'T WANT FURLONGHS

Many Are Anxious to Get in Germany, Says Former Local Boy.

"The most of the men don't care whether they get furloughs or not. They seem anxious to get over and get at it. The Germans are going to get hell from the Americans before long. They made fun of our aid to the allies at the start but they have drawn in their horns now. They will find the armies of America will fight just as they do everything else—with speed and energy."

Thus proudly does L. S. Chorpennig, a former Connelville boy, now with the 112th Infantry, express himself in writing to his mother, Mrs. N. J. Chorpennig, now a resident of Trout's Crossing, near Mount Pleasant.

When the letter was written the young man was at an outlying camp awaiting embarkation. He may now be well on his way to the battle lines. They had a pleasant trip from Camp Hancock, he said. They were treated by the Red Cross at Richmond and Washington.

NEW USE FOR PAJAMAS

Cost for Mess Towel, Reminders for Little Cleaner, Says Driscoll.

In a letter from Sergeant N. A. Driscoll, Battery 17, Field Artillery, on duty in France, he refers to the German long range gun which has been firing on Paris as "simply German terrorism." He says: "I suppose you are reading the papers. Reason they give you some idea of what is going on. I haven't seen an English or American paper for an age, but yesterday was lucky enough to borrow a Petit Parisien from a French soldier. Among the other things I read of the shell from the 'monster' as the French call that long range gun the Germans are using to shell Paris, which killed 76 and wounded 50 in a Paris church. The shell itself would be about as useful as a pea against the fortifications of Paris. It is only a small shell propelled by a very heavy charge from a reinforced gun; the target—women and children only. But enough of this. We have answer a plenty right at hand.

"Six, my peepers are wide open looking for those sweetmeats, and I am not alone. There are a few others in this outfit who have a sweet tooth. There is one in the bunch who is more favored by parcels past than the others. He sure has received some assortment of junk. Just to mention two articles, one was a corn popper. The other—you couldn't guess it in a thousand years—a pair of pajamas. We're using the coat as a mess kit towel and the other part of the said regalia is not half bad as a rifle cleaner. Such is life over here. Give my best to the whole outfit in Connelville. Am having turkey for supper."

The rural meetings will be held however, on Sunday, May 12, the day before the drive opens.

FORING OF COAL IS URGED BY DIRECTOR OF DISTRIBUTION

herwise Next Winter's Shortage Will Be Worse Than Last; the Situation Becoming Grave.

A. W. Calloway, director of bituminous coal distribution for the Fuel Administration, during a visit to Pittsburg last week made some statements indicating that the coal situation is using no little uneasiness to those concerned in directing the work of the Administration.

"The bituminous coal situation in the United States," he said, "is a very ave one. In order to meet the requirements forced on this country by war, we must produce and market next April at least 500,000,000 tons bituminous coal, or 60,000,000 more n were produced during the fiscal ar ended March 31, 1918. In fact, meet the requirements of this count there must be 78,000,000 more tons bituminous coal produced in this ntry this year than there were in 17; 8,000,000 more tons for the New gland district; 25,100,000 more for districts east of Harrisburg, not

EUGENE MEYER SELECTED FOR IMPORTANT POSITION.

Eugene Meyer, Jr., New York banker and business man, has been named by President Wilson as one of the members of the half billion dollar government war finance corporation. Mr. Meyer has been doing war work for several months with the war industries board and as a member of the national war savings committee.

counting New England, and the rest of the country will need the rest. In the city of Washington alone 50 carloads of coal more a day are being used than there were this time last year.

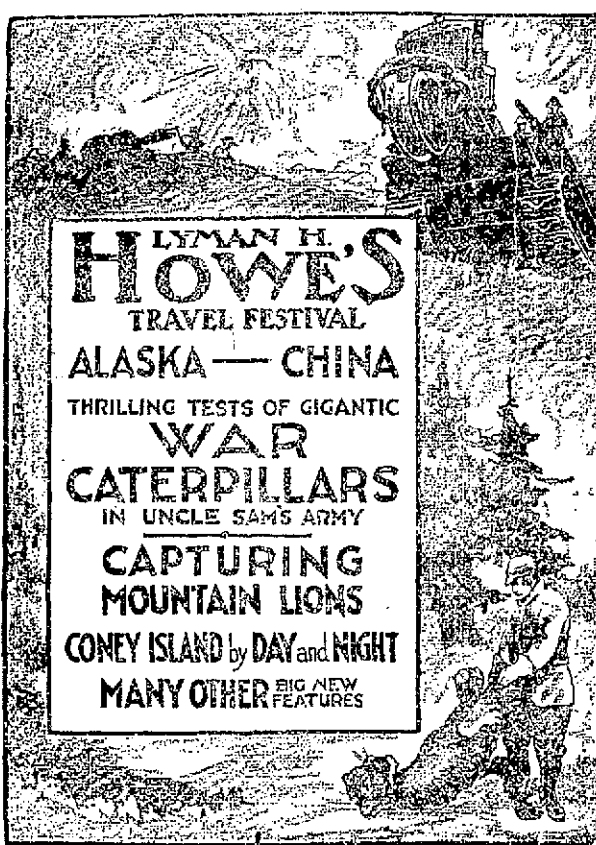

Just now the industries of the country, including the railroads, the steamship transportation lines, in munition factories, iron and steel plants, have only sufficient coal to keep them running. Unless provision is made between now and when cold weather sets in, the coal shortage of this country will be far worse than it was last year.

"This shortage can be prevented by storage of coal now in large quantities. This should be done by everybody and especially by the officials of the cities and towns. Every bushel of coal possible should be hauled from the mines by wagons and trucks, so that the railroad cars may be utilized in transporting coal to distant industries.

"I look for this war to continue for another year at least, and to win we have got to arise to every emergency, and one of the most important factors in our winning will be fuel, not only for our own industries, but those of our Allies. It has been reported to me that the wagon-mine operators of the Pittsburg district are willing to take a less price at the mines than $3.12 a ton for their coal in order to keep their mines in operation this summer and next fall. I hope the public will patronize such operators all they can, for it will be a positive disaster if those mines are forced to close."

Crowds the Store With Thrifty Shoppers

In spite of the rainy, windy weather, the people came and kept on coming and bought most freely of the extraordinary offerings—knowing they were saving 20 to 30 and even 40 per cent.

THE REASON NO PRICES ARE PRINTED IN THIS ADVERTISEMENT is because the different department heads are so busy that it was impossible for them to give details about the additional merchandise, the values, the prices, etc., in time for this paper going to press. One department manager probably voiced the sentiments of the entire store when he said: "What's the us of publishing prices when every item is a dead-sure out-and-out bargain."

CROWDS WILL BE EVEN GREATER when the delegations from this city and fifty miles around have gone home and spread the news of the wonderful savings to be had in this Anniversary Sale.

EACH INCOMING EXPRESS brings fresh new underpriced purchases from friendly manufacturers and which we in turn pass on to our customers at the most sensational savings as a substantial appreciation of their generous and loyal patronage.

AND WHEN YOUR NEIGHBORS show you their bargains and show you the big amount they have saved, you will regret it if you haven't taken advantage of this opportunity.

ONE HUNDRED MERCIFUL MILLIONS

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

ONE Hundred Millions for the Red Cross and not one penny of it for red tape.

The mightiest charity, the noblest and broadest volunteer movement of history.

The Red Cross shares no enmities, serves no flag but its own. It is God's agent, His healing, merciful will—the answer of twenty ever-gentler centuries to red barbarism.

Twelve million orphan children are wandering about Europe—twelve million frightened little boys and terrorized little girls, sent adrift to sob alone and perish in the wastes—to live like swine and die like curs, unless magnificent America ransoms them from death—and worse.

How many of your pitying dollars will search the desolations and save them for Tomorrow's works?

The Red Cross needs another Hundred Million, to glean the battle areas for this precious seed before it rots in mind and body—before grief and horror and disease and unrestrained irrevocably blight them.

One Hundred Millions to prevent famine and stifle pestilence, to stamp out hideous fevers, to check an earth-wide wave of tuberculosis, to destroy shuddering filths where verminous plagues feed and breed and threaten all the universe.

One Hundred Millions to found hospitals and build rest stations, to send nurses to the front and refugees back, to forward surgical units and furnish artificial limbs, to buy medicines and operating instruments, to re-educate the mutilated and show the blind where Hope still shines.

One Hundred Millions to maintain communication with detention camps, to provide war prisoners with food and necessities, to take messages out and bring letters in, to negotiate comforts and privileges for the captured, to buy blankets for them and clothes and books and tobacco.

One Hundred Millions for No Man's Land—for stretchers and ambulances, for anesthesia and bandages and antiseptics; to train nurses and orderlies, to outfit and transport skilled specialists, to make sure that a dear one shall have a clean, sweet cot and a sweet, clean girl from home beside it.

One Hundred Millions to keep the world sound and wholesome, while the armies of Justice hold it safe.

I Am the Red Cross

HENRY PAYSON DOWST

(With acknowledgments to Robert H. Davis, author of "I Am the Printing Press.")

- I am the Symbol of the pity of God.
- I burgeon upon the flaunting banner of victory and the drooping guidon of defeat.
- I am the token of peace in the midst of battle, of gentleness shining through the sombre mists of hate.
- I am a chevron on the sleeve of mercy, an honor mark set high upon the brow of compassion.
- I am the color of blood spilled for democracy, the form of Christ's tree of agony, and my followers, at need, crucify themselves to make men live.
- I carry the hope of life into the red pits of death, and a dying soldier salutes me and smiles as he goes to touch the hand of God Almighty.
- I stand for the organized love of mankind, the co-ordinated impulses of young and old to do good, the sacred efficiency of human service.
- I mark the flag under which are mobilized the forces of industry and finance, of church and school, of capital, of labor, of genius and of sinew.
- I am Civilization's Godspeed to those who defend her; I am the message from home.
- I am the Symbol of the pity of God.
- I AM THE RED CROSS.

750 Children Herded In Dirty Dilapidated Building Typical Red Cross Case

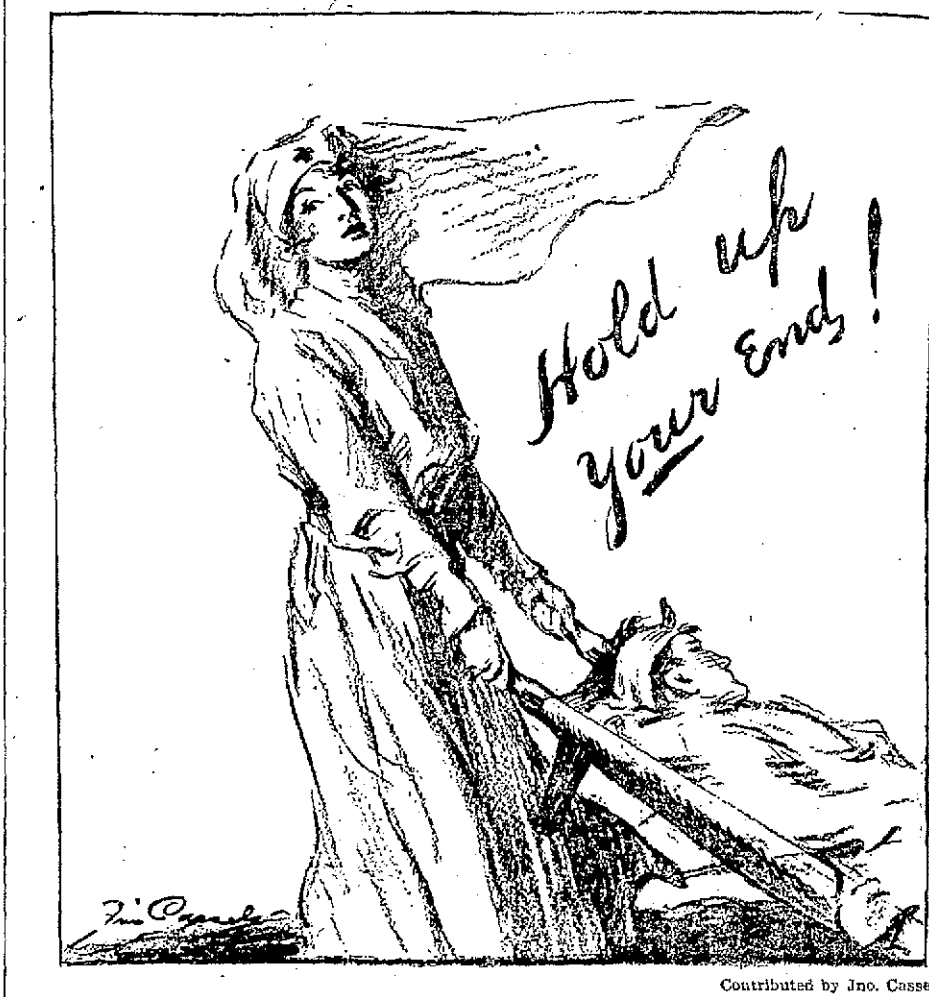

An official of a French city that was being filled with gas bombs by the Germans found himself confronted with the problem of looking after 750 children. He telegraphed the American Red Cross in Paris for help. Fifteen trained workers were rushed to the relief of these children.

Here is what the Red Cross workers found: Twenty-one tiny babies under one year old and 729 children under eight years. They were herded in an old, dirty, unfurnished building, without a suggestion of sanitary convenience. It was the best and safest the French official could find at such a moment, but you would not think it fit for a dog.

And here is what the American Red Cross workers did in two days: They thoroughly cleaned and transferred to new buildings outside the city the entire 750 children. Red Cross doctors attended the sick; nurses were secured for the babies. Suitable food was provided for all, and they were so classified as to provide against the separation of families; also an organization for the permanent care of these children, including their education, was started and has since been put into operation.

So much for the 750. But how about the thousands upon thousands of others. Right now the little children of France are at your doors crying for food, shelter, protection against German brutality and dying as they cry.

GET THE RED CROSS HABIT

By EDWARD HUNGERFORD
Of the Vigilantes

The United States has now been at war for more than a year. But up to the present time the Red Cross has made but one national appeal for help—its $100,000,000 drive in the summer of 1917. Now it is about to make another appeal—its second. And upon the heels of the Third Liberty Loan. For, great as are the responsibilities and the opportunities of the institution whose blazoning symbol is recognized by civilized nations the world over as a symbol of peace and of comfort, its expenditures are but a small fraction of those required for our governmental expense for the conduct of the war.

Organization of Service.

The Red Cross has never permitted itself to encroach upon the functions or the necessities of the government, although there are many times when it might justify itself in so doing. In the single important instance of transportation it has refused to burden the army or navy with the carrying of its vast supplies of stores, even though these were destined for the relief and the lives of the soldiers and the sailors themselves. On the contrary, after it had built and fully equipped a great dispatching depot on the West Side of New York for the preparation of its stores for shipment overseas, and the war department found itself so pressed for warehouse facilities that it was compelled to take the Red Cross plant for army needs. Davidson and his fellows of the Red Cross gladly moved out and quickly assembled and built another dispatching depot for their own needs. The spirit of the organization is that of service. And I have seen enough of its workings to convince me that it is something a little more than mere service—perhaps service plus efficiency would best describe it.

It seems to me that the time has come when there should be an even larger national appreciation of the Red Cross. Today it has only begun to touch the surface of the American people. Continued fighting and extended casualty lists will force it far beneath the skin. It cannot be embarrassed for lack of funds. You and I cannot afford to have it embarrassed, or be compelled to turn any of its energies from the saving of human life to mere grubbing for cash.

It is time that America formed a new habit. We have some big and fairly expensive national tastes already, movies and motoring, for instance, to say nothing of smoking and drinking. A little reduction on all of these and the proceeds turned to an entirely new habit would be a mighty good thing at this time. And for that fifth habit I am going to propose the Red Cross—the Red Cross habit, if you please. It will be a habit that gathered money of which will go to the credit, not of yourself, but of the greatest charity that America ever has known, which makes this new habit more than a habit—it is a real virtue—the virtue of self-sacrifice.

Our Country the Richest.

Try being ready for the Red Cross collector—not merely the next time he comes, but on each subsequent call. Do not face him with the reproachful suggestion that he has seen you before. Our country is a big land, in many ways the biggest and richest in the world, but it is not big enough nor rich enough that folks with money can escape with but a single invitation to contribute.

That is why I suggest the Red Cross habit—the continuous setting aside of definite sums of money by patriotic Americans against the Red Cross drives. It is a habit which I cannot commend too heartily to you.

The Story That Private Leach Told

"I say, there," called Private Leach, sitting up weakly, "where you goin' with me blinkin' at?"

The dog cut a look back across his shoulder, wagged his tail pleasantly and continued to trot away, carrying Private Leach's cap in his jaws.

"E's got a bloomin' cheek, not 'at!" observed Private Leach and lay down again. What difference did it make? He had clicked a bullet in his right thigh, and what with the loss of blood and pain and hunger and all, a chap might as well "go west" without a cap as with one. Now that he'd managed to get a dressing on the wound and a bandage to hold the dressing in place, the bleeding was less, but the end of the smashed bone was grinding in the torn flesh. It wasn't a bit cushy, out there in No Man's Land, six hours in a shell hole with a busted leg.

The dog had popped up from nowhere at all, with his alert eyes and sensitive, searching nose. Girl tighty about his body was the broad white band bearing the flaming sign of the Red Cross. He stood quite still while Private Leach painfully unstitched the first aid package from his back and, still more painfully, applied the disinfectant, gauze pads and clean cotton tincture. Looking up, he whined a friendly, sympathetic whine, and the soldier patted him gratefully.

"Good old chap," said Private Leach. "You've been knocked about a bit yourself, eh?" He touched the dog's ear where a recent hurt had left a scarcely healed scar.

And then the rascal had seized Private Leach's cap and made off with it toward the lines, paying no serious attention to the wounded man's remonstrances.

"Run little bloke!" remarked Private Leach and faltered. Private Leach sat on a sunny bench in the small courtyard of the convalescent hospital and explained matters to a companion, likewise recovering from the effects of boche courtesy. "And the bloomin' surgeon, 'e says them devils is trained like that. The one that found me, 'e don't mind but he's no more than bung, 'e don't, 'e-wizzin' past 'is 'ead. And when 'e finds a wounded chap 'e tykes 'is cap or anything that 'is 'toss 'e can get 'is teeth in, and away 'e goes to report to 'is K. O., like a good soldier. So then the stretcher-bearers, they goes out and brings in the chap, same as they did me, 'e sees? Red Cross trainin' dawgs by 'undreds. Great, eh, wot?"

"Right!" agreed Private Leach's companion. "Spec' you'd like to meet that fellow again, Dawgs'll look a bit different to me when I gets back to Blighty. Bl-me, I always 'ated dawgs, but now I don't."

"Look!" said Private Leach. "Ere comes one of the little beggars."

A wiry, short-haired dog with a deal of bull in his make-up, came limping along on three legs, the fourth held stiffly in front of him by an ingenious arrangement of sling and bandage.

"Clicked a bit o' Fritz's head 'is bloomin' little self, 'e did, eh, wot?" "Ere, Bill. Nice old bloke."

The dog went and laid his head, friendly fashion, on Private Leach's knee and looked up into the soldier's face, whining sympathetically.

"E knows 'ow 'e feels," observed Private Leach. "Then, 'I say, there, old timer; look at that ear!"

"Scat!" said his companion. "Been fightin'; like as not."

"Bl-me!" cried Leach. "E's the same chap. Ere, now, where you goin' with me blinkin' at?"

The dog, holding Private Leach's cap at a provoking distance, viewed the two convalescents with a mischievous eye.

"E's a cute un. Wish 'e was goin' back to Blighty with me, not 'at. Eh, wot?"

"Sure!" agreed the other. "I always 'ated 'em, but not now I don't. Red Cross dawgs is bloomin' humans. Strufe me if they ain't!"

WHAT IS WORSE THAN WAR?

Consumption Four Times More Deadly Than Bombs and Machine Guns.

Pierre Hamp, a French medical authority, estimates that of the 88,000,000 people of all ages still living in France 4,000,000 must die of tuberculosis. The war will have killed about 1,000,000. This means that man with all of his inventiveness is far less efficient than Nature as a man killer. There have been over 400,000 new cases of consumption in France since the war began. This is why, despite the number of new hospitals, there is still not sufficient space available for tuberculosis cases.

The Question of Pensions.

Of course first consideration is accorded to the ever popular wounded men. Therein lies the tragedy of the consumptive soldier. With the new cases coming in daily from the trenches the consumptives are not as helpless as the wounded men. When discharged from the army the severely wounded are allowed a pension by the government. The consumptives, however, receive no allowance unless they can prove that their illness is entirely due to their service in the army. This is not an easy thing to do, and consequently comparatively few consumptives receive governmental assistance.

Until the American Red Cross began to extend its aid the plight of most of these men was often pitiful. When discharged from the hospital they are given certain instructions which would eventually bring them back to health. But conditions are hard. They are usually unable to earn much and so do not get proper or even sufficient nourishment. Very often they are in no condition to look after themselves, still less to safeguard the health of others. To meet this difficulty local committees have been formed to look after the discharged patients and see that they do not pass on their disease to members of their families. The task is well nigh hopeless. Even if proper living quarters are to be had sanitation and hygiene cannot be taught overnight. They sleep in air tight rooms, kiss their babies, drink out of the same cups and use the same towels as the rest of their families.

In spite of these appalling difficulties, however, the rapid spread of the disease must—simply must—be checked. Even to attempt this would be an impossibility without the tremendous facilities and aid of the American Red Cross. No other agency could conceivably face much less hope to accomplish, such a task.

HOT DRINKS FOR TIRED FIGHTERS

The Red Cross Rolling Canteen.

In six months the American Red Cross supplied a million French soldiers with hot coffee, tea, chocolate, bouillon, at the time they needed it most—just as they were entering the communication trenches for a tour of duty under boche fire or coming out, tired and worn, after their grueling vigil. If you were dragging the tired pair of feet in France through the mud, and if you were greeted by a cheer, voice and a steaming pot of beef tea, wouldn't it be "a grand and glorious feeling"? Oh, boy!

Now, this is the work of the "rolling canteen," and some day a Kipling will sing "the story of the tanks"—tanks of broth and bouillon that the Red Cross "Special Front Line Service" trudges up to the lines. The Military Sanitary Service supplies the wagons and messes. The Red Cross unit does the work. It supplies these hot drinks at a cost of 50 francs ($10) per thousand men, a cent apiece!

Think of that—the penny your little girl sends the Red Cross can buy a big hot cheering drink, a good natured greeting, for a fighting man who desperately needs just that! One penny! Red Cross Rolling Canteens to the number of 15 are now behind the lines in continuous service. Their crews are exposed to shell fire and often have to put on gas masks.

Engene Hale, brother of United States Senator Hale, served six months with a rolling canteen in France, and he says:

"While the men are glad to have the hot drinks, their chief satisfaction consists in the sense this service gives them of a friend being there with a helping hand in a critical hour."

And now the American army has asked the Red Cross to maintain this front line service directly in touch with the medical relief stations near the Yankee front and this the Red Cross is eager to do.

BESSIE LYONS' INSURANCE DUE

The Home Service of the Red Cross, Backing Up Our Soldier Boys, Came Instantly to the Rescue.

In a few minutes Sam Lyons, private, U. S. A., was going "over the top" for the first time.

No fear of the foe possessed this stout hearted young American soldier. "Thou came the order, 'Three minutes to go!'"

Lyons at the Front.

As he crouched at the base of the trench ladder waiting for the signal that would bring him to grips with death itself Sam's thoughts were busy. "Wonder what Bess and the kids are doing?" He glanced at his wrist watch. "Sleeping, bless them." Suddenly the day and date came to him. Wednesday, the 3d. "Gee, it's little Mary's birthday!" And then, as though a malevolent fate had been awaiting this crucial moment to unnerve the young soldier, Sam remembered that the morning Mary was born he had taken out his first life insurance policy and today the premium was due!

"Good God!" he groaned in agony of spirit. "How could I have forgotten such a sacred obligation at this time? How could I? What will the poor things do if—"

A shrill whistle blast galvanized Sam into action. "Spur me for their sake," he prayed as he scrambled up the ladder.

In a Midwestern Town.

Lines of anxiety scored Bessie Lyons' smooth brow as she read the card the postman had just left. This was her second notification that her husband's life insurance premium was due on the 3d. Today it was the 2d. One day to pay!

What possessed Sam to neglect a matter so vital to herself and the children? Could anything have happened? Ah, no! His remittance was delayed. But the premium was due tomorrow. It must be paid. Bess turned to enter the house.

"Good morning, Mrs. Lyons," called a cheery voice. Bess wheeled to find Mrs. Leighton, the home service worker, coming up the walk. "Why, dear, child, you look worried," the older woman exclaimed anxiously. "What is it?" Bess handed the home service worker the insurance notice. "It falls due tomorrow, and Sam hasn't sent the money to pay," she said.

Mrs. Leighton became all business. "Tomorrow?" Well, it must be paid today, and it will be. Put on your things and we'll go right down to the Red Cross and have this matter settled at once. Come, child: it's all right, so cheer up."

An hour later Bess returned home. The children ran to meet her. Tenderly she kissed them. Any day might find them fatherless, but at least they would not be destitute.

"God bless the Red Cross and Home Service," she whispered, "and dear God watch over my soldier boy."

Home Service Is the Phase of Red

Cross work that looks to the welfare of the soldier's family so that the wholesome standards of American home life will be maintained and the family resources supported in every crisis that presents itself with doubly compelling aspect when the father or husband is away.

LIKE THAT OLD DUMP AT THE FOOT OF MAIN STREET

The Friends are doing a wonderful work in rebuilding France. The Red Cross wisely has cooperated with them—almost from its first appearance in France. It has sought to further every enterprise the Friends have launched there and to help with all its resources, financial and economic. Here is an extract from the letter of a young Friend, which shows the kind of work they are doing:

"Tuesday morning we took some men in the truck to a little place called Trugny, six miles from the lines. They are putting up portable houses there. There are ten up already, and a woman, the only inhabitant of the place, lives in one. That poor village was the worst wreck of all—hardly a stone left on top of another. The church was spared, but its walls were all full of holes ready for the explosion. I guess the Germans had to leave in a hurry. But they managed to take the pipes out of the organ."

"And farm implements of all sorts have been burned or rendered useless in some way. Wagons have had their spokes hacked out and various sorts of machinery made into scrap iron. A junk dealer would find plenty here, and when you think that this little village is just a speck compared to all the great area that has been devastated you wonder at the expense and labor involved in it all."

GASOLINE SUBSTITUTE IS TO BE TESTED
WASHINGTON, May 10.—Government tests will be made within a few days at Pittsburgh laboratories of a new substitute for gasoline, which the inventor, Dr. Lewis Cleveland, says can be manufactured for eight cents a gallon.
A quantity of the new combustible was prepared at the laboratories of the department of the interior here yesterday and sent to the Government's Pennsylvania experimental station.

WARSHIP'S SHOT LIFTS U-BOAT OUT OF WATER
AN ATLANTIC PORT, May 10.—The sinking of a German submarine by a United States warship with a shot which lifted the U-boat completely out of the water and broke her in two, was reported by officers of the ship on arrival here yesterday. Because of the fine work of the gunners the crew of the ship was given an additional furlough of 10 days.
Three submarines were sighted and the gunners sprang to their guns. The first two shots at the nearest enemy missed, but the third went home with such force that it lifted the U-boat out of the water.
No survivors were seen in the water and the other submarines as the destroyed submersible disappeared, dived and did not reappear.

SENATOR LODGE SUEW FOR HITTING PACIFIST
BOSTON, Mass., May 10.—United States Senator Henry Cabot Lodge was sued for $20,000 yesterday in a suit filed in the superior court by Alfred Bannwart, a former professional ball player.
The suit is based on an alleged assault by the senator on Bannwart at the national capital on April 2, 1917, when a party of Boston pacifists, of which Bannwart was a member, asked Lodge to vote against the United States entering the war.
A suit for $20,000 damages for alleged libel, in publishing an account of the happenings, was entered at the same time against a Boston newspaper.

OLD AGE A CRIME!
Some people are young at 60—red cheeks, ruddy and vigorous. Others are old at 40—joints beginning to stiffen up a bit; step beginning to lag and lose its spring; occasional twinges of pain in the back, or aches without cause, and possibly a twinge of rheumatic pain.
In most cases these are the danger signals to warn you that the kidneys are not promptly doing their work of throwing off the poisons that are always forming in the body. To neglect these natural warnings is a crime against nature. You have these symptoms when you can find prompt relief in GOLD MEDAL HAIRMAN'S OIL CAPSULES. For more than 200 years this has been the recognized remedy for kidney and bladder ailments.
GOLD MEDAL HAIRMAN'S OIL CAPSULES are imported direct from the laboratories at Haarlem, Holland. Get them at your druggists. Do not take a substitute in boxes three sizes.

SUGAR CENSUS ORDERED
WASHINGTON, May 10.—In order to secure as near as possible the sugar requirements of the country for the coming canning season and to provide for those requirements, the United States Food Administration has ordered all food administrators to have careful surveys made of the sugar stocks by compelling dealers to state how much sugar they will require for the season; how much they now have on hand, and how much they have contracted for.

GENERAL STRIKE THREATENED
BOSTON, May 10.—Milk at seven cents a quart is so dear in Switzerland that the country has been talking about little else for months past, and a general strike is threatened if any increase is attempted.
Since last summer the state has been paying the cost of the last increase. Now the farmers insist on a further increase to about 8 cents a quart, and it is doubtful whether the State treasury can afford the expense. The Socialists say they will call a general strike if the price to consumers is raised. The milk producers say they will stop all supplies unless they are allowed to charge more.

GIVEN BELMONT CASTLE
DUNDEE, Scotland, May 10.—Belmont Castle, the scene of the final struggle between Macbeth and Macduff when Macbeth was slain, has been given to the city of Dundee by its owner, Mrs. Murray, who inherited a large fortune from her brother Sir James Caird. The castle, which is located seventeen miles from Dundee, was once the home of the British Premier, Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman. The property includes 900 acres of park land and is valued at $2,000,000.

POWERFUL RADIO STATION
STOCKHOLM, May 10.—Sweden's most powerful radio station, situated at Karlsborg has been put into operation. Regular communication is now being conducted with German Airships in Austria, and also with Trans-Siberia. Wireless messages have also been exchanged with Spanish stations and with Constantinople. Word has also been received that the Karlsborg station's messages have been read by a little station in Damascus, Palestine, although the Damascus station's plant is too weak to reach Karlsborg.

SUFFRAGE AMENDMENT
Separate action on the House resolution proposing submission to the states of an equal suffrage amendment to the federal constitution has been postponed indefinitely because a canvass of the members showed that supporters of the resolution number two less than the two-thirds majority necessary for its adoption.

AMERICAN LEGATION INCREASED
AMSTERDAM, May 10.—In order to accommodate the largely increased staff of the American Legation offices at The Hague have moved into a former palace of one of the Princes of Orange. It has latterly been occupied by the Russian Legation which vacated it as a result of the Bolshevik revolution.

DRINK HOT WATER BEFORE BREAKFAST
Says you really feel clean, sweet and fresh inside, and are seldom ill.

We're not here long, so let's make our stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well and look well, what a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.
Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal stagnant matter.
Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully purgative. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.
The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, biliousness, sallow complexion, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crank on the subject of inside-bathing before breakfast.

SOPHOMORE NOTES.

(By Dorothy McClaren.)

The Sophomore Literary society met Monday evening after school. On account of not being able to hold the meeting in the auditorium it was held in study hall "A" and the program was of necessity shortened. The society chose blue and pink for its colors. They also decided upon five cents as the semi-monthly dues. The choosing of a name was brought up but was held over till a later meeting.

Wednesday evening after school Professor Woodhead took his biology classes out into the woods to gather new specimens for the students' botany collection, which each student must have before completing the course.

If you want to halt the Hun now is the time to practice what this little rhyme says:
"If you love the U. S. A.
Be patriotic every day;
If you are too young to fight,
Work in your garden every night."

Two girls were overheard talking about a copperhead snake they wanted to give to Mr. Woodhead:

EDITORIAL.

This is the fourth issue of "The Tiger," and represents a month of hard work and earnestness on the part of those publishing it. It is not the easiest matter in the world to start a school paper and keep it going for sometimes the news is scarce and the items that make a paper interesting hard to get. Credit must be given, however, to the students from whom we have received many interesting items. As you will notice "The Tiger" has doubled its space and has grown larger with each issue, not forgetting the fact that it has also grown more interesting. This, however, is left for the readers to judge, and we feel certain that we are pleasing you and hope to retain your cooperation and good will. "The Tiger" is published every Saturday and you should not miss Saturday's paper or you will be left behind in the knowledge of what is going on in C. H. S. High school students should show their parents "The Tiger" and get them interested in the events that happen in our school, and you will soon find that they will begin to look for it every Saturday just as eagerly as you do.—The Editors.

The Connellsville School Board has decided that there shall be no German taught in C. H. S. next year. We know every student is glad to hear this, for fighting a German text-book is almost as bad as fighting the Germans themselves. There has been much discussion among the students as to whether it would be eliminated or not, and when the school board decided that it should be cut out we all breathed a sigh of relief.

The Thrift Stamp sale in C. H. S. last Tuesday amounted to $196.76. The amount purchased by classes is as follows:

First Year	$55.76
Second Year	50.08
Freshman	27.12
Sophomore	19.80
Juniors	26.96
Seniors	17.88
Total	$196.76

All C. H. S. students are being given a medical examination by Dr. Katharine Wakedfield.

Mary Kathryn—"Does Mr. Woodhead want a copper head?"
Amalia—"No; I think he'll keep the one he's got."

Will someone please ask "Bill" what was so interesting Wednesday afternoon in English class?

Nanna Hood evidently thinks Caesar was as ruthless as Von Hindenburg, who said he was willing to sacrifice three hundred thousand of his best men, for when translating on Wednesday she said: "Caesar placed the auxiliaries in the middle of the line,

JUNIOR NOTES.

(By Estella Wilson.)

A number of C. H. S. girls under the direction of Miss Waterbury gave an exhibition in the gymnasium Thursday evening. It was to show what the girls had accomplished during their year of gymnasium work. The girls performed various "stunts" and dances which were greeted with much applause on the part of the students. Credit must be given to Miss Waterbury, under whose direction the girls performed so nicely.

The editors of "The Tiger" would like the Juniors to take more interest in their class column and hand in more items to their class representative.

Gladye Lyon—"Oh, I am just scared skunky over this test."

Mr. Woodhead (as usual)—"With great respect."

Katharine List is back to school again after being absent on account of illness. Some thought it was needless but this was later discovered to be a mistake.

Bill Harry has been appointed knitting instructor in Mr. Smith's study period. He gave the class its first lesson Friday afternoon.

THE PARAMOUNT.

"FAITH ENDURING"—A five part Triangle feature in which Roy Stewart is seen in a splendid role, is being shown today. Jeff Flagg is rescued from Yeggsman by Jim Lee and they start raising cattle. When the Rex Copper Mining company begins operations nearby Lee explains to Flagg that the erection of a smelter will prove disastrous to their venture, as the copper will poison the water. A feud is begun in which Flagg and Lee are arrayed against Edward Crane, general manager of the mining company and also against Sol Durkee, sheriff, seeking the miners' votes. Flagg falls in love with Helen Dyer, stenographer in Crane's office, and after many exciting adventures the couple are married. A Christy comedy is included. Monday Viola Dana will be featured in "Breakers Ahead," a Metro attraction of considerable interest. Thursday Kitty Gordon will be seen in "The Purple Lily," a World attraction. Madge Kennedy will be seen soon in "Our Little Wife," a Goldwyn feature.

THE ORPHEUM.

"LOVE LETTERS"—The danger of indiscreet letter writing is vividly brought out in Dorothy Dalton's newest Paramount picture, "Love Letters," which was written by Shannon Fife and personally supervised by Thomas H. Ince. As Eileen Harland, wife of the district attorney, she finds herself in a difficult position due to a girlfriend's mistake in placing too much trust in an unworthy suitor. How her husband's assistance, also an old admirer of hers, comes to her assistance, and how she finally regains her husband's confidence is vividly portrayed. Miss Dalton's work and that of the splendid cast, including William Cooklin and Thurston Hall, is very good.

Lovers of fishing will find much to interest them in Lynum H. Howe's latest Travel Festival, which will be offered at the Orpheum on Monday. A feature of the new program is a beautiful and entertaining Alaskan series, which, among other things, takes spectators on a salmon fishing trip. Salmon return to the places of their birth, scientists have found, after four years to spawn and die. Often they travel 20,000 to 30,000 miles in a lifetime. Mr. Howe has secured some very interesting pictures—the most remarkable ever taken—of salmon leaping against the powerful current up falls. They frequently work their way up falls 20 to 30 feet high on the way inland to spawn. The Alaskan tour, which is one of the headlines of the new Travel Festival, also presents the birth of an iceberg in the North Pacific. The immense mountain of ice was caught in its moment of breaking from a glacier and crashing into the sea. The picture was made from an open boat, at great danger to the photographer. Other features of the new Howe program show Uncle Sam's gigantic caterpillar war tractors in spectacular action, a joyful day and night at Coney Island, a fascinating tour of China, and the thrilling capture of a wild mountain lion. Amusing animated caricatures and film novelties, the creation of Mr. Howe's own artists, will be freely interspersed throughout the entire entertainment.
